

MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 13 1899

FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.

Washington, November 13.

President McKinley today promised to make an address at Mt. Vernon on December 14, when the Masonic observance of the one hundredth anniversary of Washington's death will be held.

Minister Loomis sent the following dispatch, dated Caracas, yesterday: "After eight hours fighting Castro's army took Port Cabelas this morning. The killed and wounded aggregate 300. Surgeons and hospital corps from foreign cruises are attending the wounded. Local facilities are inadequate. Castro holds every port and place of consequence in Venezuela."

Gen. O'Leary cables the War Department from Manila this morning as follows: "MacArthur's advance, 36th vol. entered Manila at 7:10 p. m. yesterday. Enemy fled by great labor. MacArthur succeeded in getting forward to Capas yesterday and will have a quarter-master's transportation and will have command in Tarlac today, his advance pushing forward to save as much of the railroad as possible, which the enemy are trying to destroy on retreat. Many deserters from the enemy passed in to MacArthur some 30 miles yesterday. Insurgents in that section are reported to be short of provisions. Lawton is pushing forward. His advance was obliged to leave behind all transportation and depend to a great extent upon the country for subsistence. Hayes' 4th cavalry, in the vicinity of Carrangalan, has captured a large amount of insurgent property and nearly half a regiment of four hundred bolomen transporting Aguinaldo's property north over the mountains, together with his private secretary and seven officers. Young, with Third Cavalry and Battalion Macabebe scouts, followed by balance of Battalion Twenty-second infantry leaving behind all transportation, pushed out on San Joé, Lupao, San Quenton and Tayug road and scattered the enemy stationed at these points, most of them being driven southwestward. Wessel with a squadron of the Third Cavalry, hastened to Tayug where an insurgent supply depot was captured, securing several hundred thousand pounds of rice, thirty-five hundred pounds of flour, seventy-five hundred pounds of salt, other provisions and thirteen hundred uniform coats, new, many blankets and other articles of clothing, also a number of insurgent officers and sixty-nine Spanish and two American prisoners. Detachments were sent north to San Nicolas and it is believed that Young established communication with Wheaton's troops last evening. Indications are that the insurgents will not escape to the mountain capital at Bontoc without great difficulty and loss, if at all, other troops at Tarlac, Craig, Delavera, San Joé, Lupao, Humagang, San Quenton, Tayug, San Nicolas, and on through to Lingayen. Guiter with strong stations at Arayat, San Isidro, Cabanatuan should cause the insurgents some annoyance. Our troops have suffered great hardships and have performed most severe service and are reported in excellent condition and spirits. The enterprise and indomitable will displayed by officers were never excelled."

"Since the United States has abandoned its wise doctrine of non-intervention in foreign affairs, its national life resembles that of the English; it is full of vanity, pretence, hypocrisy, and now it is also bellicose. The thirst for gold is consuming the nation. There is not a country in the world where the contrast between the rich and the poor is so terrible; there is not another where the millions are dissipated with equal selfishness, nor with more terrible carelessness, and where corruption prevails to so tremendous an extent that public life is poisoned throughout its whole being wherever it manifests itself."

The idea of going away from home to hear news is amusing to some people, but that there is more truth than poetry in what Mlle. de la Ramee says, as quoted above, is plain to be seen by every intelligent man.

The Southern man who has political aspirations, or who does not wish to weaken the democratic party and strengthen the republican, and prolong indefinitely the injurious rule thereof, had better conceal his predilections in favor of trusts, protection, gold monopolism and imperialism. The democrats of the South are opposed to all such republican measures, and, judging by the result of the late elections, not only those of the North, but many of the republicans of that section also, agree with them. And as Mr. Bryan is the most pronounced opponent of all those measures, he is sure to be their leader, and if he be not, the democrats themselves will defeat the man who may be nominated in his place.

The republican office-holders of Alabama met in conference in Birmingham last Saturday and unanimously endorsed the President's policy, home as well as foreign. As they hold their offices by the President's appointment, and hope to retain them if he be re-elected, it is only natural that they should endorse him, and would have been unnatural if they had not. But they must be very stupid if they don't know that the endorsement of a State that never goes republican will do the President as little good in the North as it will in the South.

It is understood that an effort will be made in the next legislature to abolish the office of commissioner of agriculture. It should succeed, and so should, another one, to abolish that of commissioner of labor. To support both, the farmers and the laborers of the State are taxed, but if any one has been benefited to the extent of a cent by either he has concealed the knowledge thereof from his most intimate friends. There are some other State offices that could also be abolished without doing any body but the incumbents any harm.

VIRGINIA POSTOFFICES.—The report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General contains the following items of local interest:

Number of appointments of presidential postmasters during the year in Virginia, 2.

Number of fourth-class appointments in Virginia, 569.

The report shows that there are 3,468 postoffices in Virginia, this State ranking third in the list of States in this regard, and the gross Virginia receipts during the year were $1,310,635.97.

FIGHTS LIKE A SINGED CAT.

The fall races which commenced here so favorably on Saturday last promise, with a continuance of good weather, to be the most successful that have been run here for many years. The horses are numerous, excellent and in fine trim, the attendance large, including men from various parts of the country, and many beautiful and handsomely dressed women, and the order maintained could not be better. The sport today was delightful.

Admiral Dewey's luck came to him late in life, but it came in a bunch. His bounty in the Manila affair will be nearly twenty thousand dollars.

Senator Martin of Virginia arrived here yesterday evening and will remain until tomorrow morning. He is in good health and spirits and says the election in his State resulted just as he had supposed it would. He thinks the result in the other States, as a whole, is favorable to the democrats. The Senator's quarters are at the Rigg Hotel.

Representative McBee, of Prescott, Arizona, who arrived in Washington last week, accompanied by his wife, was taken sick Saturday and is now at the Providence Hospital. He is said to be a sufferer from nervous prostration and although, according to the hospital authorities, he is in no immediate danger, his case is considered quite serious, but little improvement was noticeable this morning. Mr. McBee is a democrat and has been a member of the House for 12 years.

The prevailing impression here now is that Mr. Quay will be admitted to the Senate on the Governor's certificate, though not until after a long debate and that several, if not many, democrats will be among those who will vote to admit him.

NEWS OF THE DAY

"Americanists" are said to favor Cardinal Vannutelli for succession to the papacy.

Rumors of strained relations between Russia and Japan are borne out by reports published in North China newspapers.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen, in his annual report, recommended the establishment of a national naval reserve.

Attorneys have put in a claim for $382,800 for Admiral Dewey and his men for the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Manila.

Sixteen thousand pounds of powder in the California Powder Mill, at Santa Cruz, Cal., exploded on Saturday, killing the night watchman.

A leading reason for the Czar's recent visit to Emperor William was the desire to urge the securing of a Russian loan in Germany. The Prussian minister of finance has advised the Emperor against the Russian scheme of raising another Russian loan in Germany.

The expedition of General MacArthur to Tarlac, the supposed stronghold of the insurgent forces, has failed to find Aguinaldo and his so-called government. The town of Tarlac was found deserted. Bamban, a Filipino stronghold near Tarlac, was also captured.

Secretary Root is now said by administration men to be the probable administration candidate for Vice President upon the understanding that Gov. Roosevelt will not take the second place on the ticket with McKinley next year, although promised McKinley's support for first place in 1904.

A dispatch from Halifax, N. S., says Lieut. O. C. Wood, of the North Lancashire regiment, reported killed near Belmont, Cape Colony, was a grandson of Jefferson Davis, President of the Southern Confederacy, and a great grandson of President Zachary Taylor. Mr. Davis's first wife was a daughter of Gen. Taylor.

General Paredes, the Venezuelan revolutionist, surrendered to General Cabello after a terrific battle at Porto Cabello, in which 650 people were killed and wounded. The American and other warships in the harbor assisted the attacking force by bombarding the town, but the range was too great and the firing was ineffective.

It is reported that a syndicate has been formed to buy the following five largest shipbuilding plants in this country and combine them in a single company: William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Company, of Philadelphia; Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry-Dock Company; Union Iron Works of San Francisco; Columbia Iron Works, of Baltimore; and Bath, Me., Iron Works. The five concerns represent about $20,000,000 of invested capital.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

In a mock hold-up in Philadelphia, this morning William Rowland Hunn, aged 17, son of Ezekiel Hunn, a widely known lawyer, shot and killed Edwin Lippincott, in the latter's cigar store. Hunn did not know that the pistol was loaded.

Philip Hollinger, a farmer, and Miss Catherine Stahlut were driving over the railroad track near Peotom, Ill., yesterday on their way home from church, when they were struck by a train. Philip Hollinger died instantly.

Early yesterday morning a robber forced an entrance into the home of Allen Forre, at Swaynes, Ind., and at the point of a revolver took a pair of trousers containing $1,400 in cash which Danes had drawn from the bank Saturday to pay a debt.

Rev. Vincent Zilinski, of the Independent Catholic Church, who was found lying in his room in Philadelphia last Friday, is believed to have been murdered by church factionists, and Bishop Koszowski will head an investigation.

The fifteenth annual horse show opened this morning at Madison Square Garden, New York. The exhibition promises to excel those of previous years, as the best blooded stock in all classes has been entered.

The Paris Patrie says that an Anglo-French war is inevitable.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.—At Lynchburg on Saturday evening the jury in the case of the Commonwealth against Arthur N. Derr came into court and reported a disagreement, and were adjourned over until today. Derr is charged with embezzling $44,000 of moneys collected from various insurance companies on the life of his brother, Rush N. Derr, the said sum having come into his hands as counsel for his aged mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Derr, who was the beneficiary under Rush Derr's will. Arthur Derr acted as his own counsel. He appeared in court in the garb of a clergyman and cross examined his venerable parents. It is charged that Mrs. Derr turned her fortune over to Arthur in trust and he has embezzled every cent of it, leaving her penniless.

MASONIC.—Tomorrow the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Virginia will begin its 92nd grand annual convention in Richmond.

The 77th annual convocation of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar and appendant orders of Virginia will convene in the Masonic Temple, Richmond, next Thursday, the 16th instant, at 10 o'clock a. m.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

Gov. Tyler has decided to respite Alex. Tate, charged with the murder of Charles Malone, of Norfolk, for thirty days.

The Cape Charles lightship, which was blown from her moorings by the hurricane of October 30, was replaced upon her station last night.

The three tramps who are supposed to have killed a man near Quantico recently were indicted in the County Court of Prince William on Friday.

The First Presbyterian Church of Baltimore has extended a call to Rev. Donald Guthrie, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Va.

The Petersburg Perpetual Building and Loan Company will soon go regularly into the banking business, and there will be three banks in that city.

On Friday Mr. Edwin Brown and his wife celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage at their beautiful home, "Easton," on the borders of Lancaster and Northumberland counties.

At Charlottesville on Saturday the University of Virginia took the football game from the Virginia Polytechnic Institute by a score of 23 to 0. Lyman, of the university, had his collar bone broken.

The Catholic Club was organized in Staunton Saturday night and their rooms opened with addresses by Father McVerry, pastor of St. Francis' Catholic Church, and his assistant, Father McCarty, and a fine musical program.

The clerk's office of Notowatig Court-house was broken open Friday night, and the poll-books of the recent election are missing. The returns had already been sent by the clerk to the secretary of the commonwealth. A few slats were broken out of the window to the clerk's office.

Mr. Martin Burke, of Bedford City, has been elected to the chair of law recently vacated by William L. Clarke, at Washington Lee University, and he will accept. Mr. Burke, who for the past five years has been the reporter for the Court of Appeals, is a son of Judge Burke, for many years a member of the Virginia Court of Appeals.

A letter from Fredericksburg says: Several successful fox hunts have taken place in the surrounding counties recently in which the fair sex have participated. One was given last week in King George county in honor of Miss Morton Taylor. Seven women rode behind the hounds over a rough country and although the run was about twenty miles there were no accidents.

THE WAR IN AFRICA.

The Boers must strike telling blows this week before the British reinforcements are upon them, and the latest news from the seat of war in South Africa indicates that they are seeking to do this. The attack is proceeding in four localities—Ladysmith, Kimberley, Mafeking and northern Cape Colony, near the Orange State border.

A fight with heavy artillery on both sides occurred at Ladysmith, Natal, last Thursday morning, the date of the latest advances. The town was described as in a huge cauldron of smoke. Big guns were pounding away at short intervals. The result is not positively known, but the London War Office professes to be confident that General Buller is safe.

It is not believed in London that Gen. Joubert has much prospect of capturing Ladysmith with artillery alone. An infantry attack on the British entrenchments is expected.

The Boers have been bombarding Kimberley recently. They are said to have produced no impression on the town so far. Their army surrounds it in great force and has heavy guns.

An attack on Mafeking was repulsed by the fire of Maxim guns. The British loss is described as "slight."

The Boers continue to pour into Cape Colony from the north, with a view, it is believed, of getting the help of colonial Dutch. They will have to hasten their operations in that direction with special rapidity, as the British are expected to have 12,000 soldiers on the scene by the middle of this week.

The British commander at Kimberley reports, through General Buller, several skirmishes with the Orange Free State troops, in which an officer of the Cape police and several others were wounded. Maxim guns were used effectively on the Boers. Another report says that the British, in mistake, killed one member of the Cape police and wounded another.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The people of the State at large are now much interested in what the Legislature which meets December 4th, will do. It is known that many bills on various subjects have been prepared and the session promises to be lively from the very start.

There seems to be no doubt that an attempt will be made to pass a stringent measure against trusts, and there is some reason to believe that the effort will be successful.

There will also be a bill introduced to prevent as far as practicable the use of money in election.

A bill will be introduced looking to the amendment of the State constitution so as to require an educational qualification for voters. It is understood that a bill of this character has been drawn. Its passage is thought to be assured.

NOT A CANDIDATE.—Mr. John F. Ryan, of Loudoun county, Speaker of the Virginia House of Delegates, says he will not be a candidate for reelection to the speakership of the next House. He has been elected to the position of Speaker three times, and each time by acclamation. He is re-elected to the House from Loudoun by his old constituents, and will be a useful member of the body over which he formerly presided.

Mr. Ryan, it will be remembered, was an active opponent of Senator Martin, and the Senator's friends having won in the legislature will probably elect Mr. Saunders Speaker of the House.

John F. Kearney, the famous Irish agitator and alleged dynamite, has been stricken with paralysis and is lying dangerously ill at his home in New York. Kearney refuses to have a doctor or priest attend him.

The official count in Kentucky has not yet been completed and both the democrats and republicans are still claiming the election.

Dr. W. W. Wixom, Italy Hill, N. Y., says, "I heartily recommend One Minute Cough Cure. It gave my wife immediate relief in suffocating asthma." Pleasant to take. Never fails to quickly cure coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Edgar Warfield, Jr., corner King and Pitt streets.

DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy, after having been in session in Richmond for four days, concluded their labors shortly before midnight Saturday and adjourned to meet next November in the city of Montgomery, Ala.

"The following letter was received from Mrs. Jefferson Davis:

"To the Daughters of the Confederacy, My Friends and Countrywomen:

"Accept my grateful acknowledgments and those of my daughter, Mrs. Hayes, for the splendid manifestation of your love and esteem for my Winnie. For the short remnant of life left to me it will be a never failing source of happiness to me and to her sister.

"Another and ever recurring source of satisfaction to us is that you have graciously assumed the controlling and active interest in the effort to build the Confederate monument to my husband's memory.

"Such a manifestation of approval from his own beloved people will be the richest heritage you could confer upon his child and her descendants.

"Whether your noble efforts are crowned with success or not, we shall know your patriotic hearts are in the work and love you for what you have striven to accomplish."

"I thank you with all my heart for your loving welcome and hospitality during our visit here, and beg you to believe me with cordial appreciation."

The rules were suspended to consider a motion made by Miss Stuart, of Alexandria, that the U. D. C. accept the plan of Messrs. E. B. Thaw and W. L. Waring of purchasing Beauvoir and converting it into a home for Confederate soldiers and sailors. (Mrs. Davis, it is said, desires to go to New Orleans to live and will do so when her place is sold.) A letter from Mrs. Davis was read endorsing the motion, and offering to sell Beauvoir for that purpose for the sum of $25,000.

Miss Stuart explained that the letter had reference to a plan formulated by Messrs. W. L. Waring and E. B. Thaw, of Richmond. She offered a resolution that the convention give its hearty endorsement to the scheme, and Messrs. Waring and Thaw were invited to the platform to explain their plan. Mr. Thaw stated that, together with Mr. Waring, he had formulated a plan to raise money in all parts of the United States by subscriptions of $1 on membership certificates; to purchase Beauvoir, and turn it over to be free to the Daughters, and to raise sufficient funds to make the home self-sustaining.

It was finally decided to give endorsement to the scheme, and the endorsement was given by a rising vote.

At the night session, however, the convention reconsidered this action and voted unanimously not to endorse the scheme to purchase the Beauvoir estate and to request the newspapers throughout the country to make notice of the fact.

The cause of this sudden action is not known, but the evening meeting lasted until midnight, and is said to have been quite stormy.

It is likely that those now in control of the scheme will endeavor to push it to success, notwithstanding the adverse action by the United Daughters.

The Daughters voted $500 from their treasury to the Davis monument fund. The monument committee, consisting of one member from each State, held a meeting and decided to constitute a small working executive committee to be located in Richmond, which can cooperate with the Davis Monument Association, and the matter of raising funds for the monument is to be vigorously pressed.

Mrs. Parks offered the following, which was adopted:

"That each State division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy appoint a museum committee of three, of which the State president shall be a member ex officio; the State regent, chairman and the other two members appointed by the State president. This committee shall have charge of the interests of the museum and keep it before their State division. Further, that each State president shall, after presenting the matter to the State conventions, recommend the appropriation of a sum of money, varying according to the financial condition of each treasury, for the running expenses of this 'treasure house,' which expense has heretofore been borne by the Confederate Memorial Literary Society alone.

Further, that each State president shall recommend that each chapter in her division set apart annually a sum according to its ability for the maintenance and enrichment of the room appropriated to its own State."

The committee on constitution was instructed to redraft the constitution and submit such changes as are necessary to the various subordinate chapters forty-five days before the next convention.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. E. G. Weed, of Jacksonville, Fla., wife of Bishop Weed, of Florida, president; Mrs. William Reed, New York, first vice-president; Mrs. F. T. McCullough, Staunton, vice-president; Mrs. John O. Hickman, Nashville, Tenn., recording secretary; Miss Mary F. Heares, North Carolina, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jefferson Thomas, Atlanta, treasurer.

BRYAN IS SATISFIED.—Colonel William J. Bryan in a statement telegraphed from Lincoln, Neb., says: "Taken as a whole, the election returns from all the States give encouragement to those who hope for the overthrow of the republican party in 1900. It is evident that those who believed in the Chicago platform of 1896 still believe in it, and that the hostility to it is not pronounced as it was in 1896. It is certain that a quarrel over money precipitated the tragedy. Young Schan, who was just beginning life as a dentist, is twenty years old. His profession did not as yet bring him in much of an income, and he relied on his father for cash. The latter refused and a quarrel followed, ending in the shooting. Mrs. Schan, step-mother of the murderer, witnessed the shooting.

The paricide after the shooting stooped over his father's body and secured from a finger a valuable diamond ring. This he slipped on one of his own fingers and then calmly awaited arrest. He refused to tell the cause of the tragedy, saying it would develop.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Sharp Fighting at Mafeking.

London, Nov. 13.—The war office is in receipt of a telegram from Mafeking stating that on Oct. 25 the British made a night sortie and charged a Boer force with the bayonet. The British lost seven killed and eight wounded. On Oct. 30th the enemy blew up portions of the railroad north of Mafeking evidently with the intention of hindering Colonel Plumer who is approaching from the north, to relieve the town. On the 31st the enemy was discovered attempting to post cannon southwest of Mafeking. Colonel Baden-Powell sent out a force to prevent the Boers' action and a sharp engagement followed. The Boers lost heavily. The British lost five killed and five wounded.

London, Nov. 13.—Advices from Pretoria under date of Nov. 6th says another commando is leaving for the front. Colonel Schiel, the German officer captured by the British, says the Boers' plan was to capture Pietermaritzburg, the capital of Natal, and then dictate terms. Commanding is going on briskly in the Transvaal. All neutrals will be pressed into police service.

Queenstown, Cape Colony, Nov. 13.—The Dutch police at Alwal north of the Orange river have deserted to the Boers. The town is reported to be invaded by the Boers.

London, Nov. 13.—A dispatch from Darban dated Nov. 9th says native runners just arrived report that the Boers were defeated at Ladysmith with severe loss that day (Thursday). Their guns were silenced after four hours fighting. Thereport, coming as it does from native sources, is not largely credited. A "Kaffirgram" just one week before told the same thrilling story of British success. The news was without foundation. The native report, however, is of value inferentially, as indicating heavier firing at Ladysmith. Dispatches from Escourt under date of Nov. 9th, tell of heavy firing being heard in the direction of Ladysmith. However the war office had word from General White Thursday night, Nov. 9th, saying that the bombardment with heavy guns was continuing but "no serious damage has been done." No British successes were spoken of that day. Nothing further of official nature has been heard from General Buller.

Capetown, Nov. 13.—The transport Olympia, with 1,135 more troops of the army corps, arrived here today.

To Hem in Aguinaldo.

Manila, Nov. 13.—The Americans have practically closed the trap in which it is intended to catch General Aguinaldo and his army. Aguinaldo's secretary said 172 bolomen, who were acting as his escort, had been captured near Carrangalan. General Lawton with part of his force is at Carrangalan. His advance, led by General Young, and other detachments from his force are at Lupao, Tayug and Nicholas, stretching in a semi-circle towards the Gulf of Lingayen, from which place General Wheaton and his men started about the middle of last week. It is believed that Wheaton's advance has connected with Gen. Young, thus completing the cordon to the north. On the south, General MacArthur's advance has reached Tarlac, the last capital of the Philippines. The place was entered at 7:10 o'clock last night. Contrary to the custom of the Philippines, the place was not put to the torch. Twenty-nine rebels came into MacArthur's camp and surrendered their rifles, receiving pay therefor. This and Tarlac's tame surrender, it is confidently believed, marks the end of organized insurrection.

Reports received from Generals Lawton, MacArthur and Young convey the impression that Aguinaldo and his army are "bottled up." The slippery Filipino leader who has escaped from the Americans several times is now once more said to be in a tight place and his capture is looked for.

Refractory Prisoners.

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—On board the transport Indiana, which brought home the Tennessee volunteers, were 100 military prisoners from various regiments in the Philippines. Last Monday these men broke through the bulkhead separating their quarters from the commissary department and stole several cases of whisky. Later, thoroughly incensed, they splintered the wooden bars in front of their prison and scattered throughout the ship. The men ran up and down the ship yelling and cursing and threatening death to any one who dared oppose them and jeered at the officers commanding. Finally the soldiers were called on and it was found necessary to beat scores of the prisoners into insensibility before they were conquered. A dozen of the ringleaders were heavily ironed, while the rest were kept in solitary confinement on bread and water until taken off the transport.

Will Tramp to Utah.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—Rev. Dr. Searrett, 91 years of age, an inmate of the poor house and suddenly converted to Mormonism, eloped from the institution Saturday night, taking with him five women. Their declared intention is to walk to Utah, where they can practice their new faith in peace. Beside the bed which the former pastor had occupied was found a note signed by himself and the five women stating that they had decided to become Mormons and would walk all the way to Utah.

Killed by His Son.

New York, Nov. 13.—George J. Schan, 58 years old, for years an officer attached to the Supreme Court, was shot and killed this morning by his son, George W. Schan. A quarrel over money precipitated the tragedy. Young Schan, who was just beginning life as a dentist, is twenty years old. His profession did not as yet bring him in much of an income, and he relied on his father for cash. The latter refused and a quarrel followed, ending in the shooting. Mrs. Schan, step-mother of the murderer, witnessed the shooting.

The paricide after the shooting stooped over his father's body and secured from a finger a valuable diamond ring. This he slipped on one of his own fingers and then calmly awaited arrest. He refused to tell the cause of the tragedy, saying it would develop.
